

Session management sounds solved.

THE PROBLEM

Until you run it across a frontend, live pricing, portfolios, and behaviour at once.
That's what every logged-in CryptoPrism user hits.

One session, three things to track.

WHAT DATA

what this session can see right now

HOW STALE

how old its cached view is allowed to be

SOURCE OF TRUTH

which of three databases answers at that instant

Get it wrong and it quietly disagrees with itself.

THE FAILURE

a stale price next to a fresh portfolio value

THE KICKER

nothing crashed. nothing logged it. it just disagreed.
